The INSA Group is France's leading group of public-funded engineering schools, with a long tradition of international recruitment of secondary school leavers in special sections designed to ensure their success. At INSA Rouen this section is called the Bilingual International Section (SIB). It runs over the first three semesters of the degree programmes.

What's your profile?

We recruit high-calibre students currently in their final year of study at a secondary school, specialising in Mathematics, Physics and Chemistry. Following a 3-week intensive French language Summer School, the teaching for the first 3 semesters at INSA is bilingual. It is therefore possible to apply without any previous knowledge of French. Successful candidates must continue learning French in their home country immediately upon acceptance to reach at least an A2 level (CEFR).

Choice of specialisations following the foundation cycle

- Information Systems Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Civil Engineering & Sustainable Construction
- Chemistry & Process Engineering
- Mathematical & Software Engineering
- Energy & Propulsion Engineering
- Industrial Risk Engineering
